C. K. HAMILTON DARING

He Flew Across Border from El Paso,
Texas, over Juarez and Made Reconnaissance of the Military Situation There.

El Paso, Texas, Feb. 11.—In spite of the warning that he might be fired on by Mexican federal troops, Charles K. Hamilton, the aviator, yesterday flew across the border into Mexico and made the first aeroplane reconnaissance ever attempted in time of war. Hamilton crossed directly over the Mexican customs-house, circled over the defense of Juarez and then returned to the American side of the river.

Hamilton was allowed to make the flight by American officers in charge of the border patrol, on condition that he would not divulge the information he might acquire during the flight.

Been Discovered.

Eric, Pa., Feb. 11.—No bodies were stolen from the mausoleum of the late Congressman W. L. Scott. This authorized information was given the Associated Press last night by a friend of the family of Charles H. Strong, a son-in-law of the late congressman. Four of the crypts were broken open. The casket containing Mrs. McCollum's body was placed head foremost in an unoccupied crypt in the innermost recess of the mausoleum. None of the bodies was molested. Nothing of value was removed from the mausoleum or any of the bodies.

In the mausoleum were found a coat, a pickaxe, a jackknife and a can opener. The names of the culprits are known but are not permitted to be made public. The motive of the vandalism is pronounced one of vengeance.

BODIES RECOVERED.

From Mine at Trinidad, Col., Where Explosion Occurred Thursday Night.

Trinidad, Col., Feb. 11.—Fifteen bodies had been brought to the surface last night from the Carbon Coal and Coke company mine, which was wrecked by an explosion Thursday night. The number included the bodies of Assistant Superintendent E. A. Sutton and Robert Meek, rescuers, who lost their lives in an attempt to save others. Two more bodies were found. It has been determined that the explosion of a car of blasting powder in charge of the shot fired caused the destruction.

Local Pastors May Participate.

Indications are that the Lincoln anniversary observance at the opera house to-morrow evening will be largely attended. Several clergymen, in response to invitations, have replied that they would attend if the opening could be arranged conveniently. Rather than to conflict with the evening service in the various churches, the committee decided to open the exercises at 8 o'clock, instead of 7 o'clock, as was planned at first. Rev. George MacArthur, pastor of the Presbyterian church in Graniteville, who will deliver the principal address of the evening, has made a careful study of the subject "Socialism from a Christian Standpoint" in a manner instructive and interesting to everyone. An excellent musical program will also be included in the exercises as follows: Vocal duet, Rev. and Mrs. MacArthur; vocal solo, Miss Emma Phillips; recitation, John T. Callaghan. Miss Mary Walker will act as accompanist.

PHILADELPHIA EDITOR DIES.

James Elverson, Sr., of the Inquirer Started Golden Days.

Philadelphia, Feb. 11.—James Elverson, sr., proprietor and editor of the Philadelphia Inquirer, died at his home here last night, aged 73 years. He had been ill for several weeks.

Mr. Elverson purchased the controlling interest in the Inquirer in 1880. Among his earlier ventures in the publishing field were the Saturday Night, a story paper which he established in 1865, and Golden Days, a well-known juvenile publication, which he started in 1880.

Born in England he came to this country in 1847. He began life as a messenger boy in Newark, N. J. He was a telegraph operator at the age of 16 and before he was 20 was manager of the consolidated offices in Newark. At the outbreak of the Civil war he went to Washington as the manager of the American Telegraph company and personally handled much of the important business of the departments. He was delegate-at-large to the national Republican convention of 1900, 1904 and 1908.

ALBERT ROTHSCHILD,
NOTED BANKER, DEADHe Was Head of the Austrian Branch of the House of Rothschild and
Was Only 56 Years of Age.

Vienna, Feb. 11.—Baron Albert S. Rothschild, head of the Austrian branch of the Rothschild family, died last night. He was 56 years of age. His death recalls the romance of Baron Rothschild's youngest son, Oskar, who died suddenly here a year ago last July, following the breaking of his marriage engagement with Miss Olga Menz, the daughter of Dr. Rudolph Menz of Chicago. It was widely reported at the time that Baron Oskar committed suicide by shooting, though it was asserted that death was due to apoplexy. Baron Albert Rothschild objected to the match.

SCENE SHIFTS
From the Legislative Halls in Albany to New York City.

New York, Feb. 11.—All the central figures in the senatorial situation ran down from Albany to New York for the week-end yesterday afternoon, and all of them were here last night, but there were no conferences. Governor Dix will be here until Tuesday. Myer Gaynor has expressed a wish to see him, and the governor says that if the mayor calls he will be glad to receive him. There was no indication of when to expect the mayor or what the mayor would do to confer with him about. The mayor was at his country place in St. James, L. I., last night.

Gov. Dix took dinner last night at the house of Mrs. James Roosevelt, the mother of the insurgent leader, State Senator Franklin D. Roosevelt, but it was said the gathering was purely social. Shortly before ten o'clock his military aide called for and accompanied him to the plaza, where he spoke at the dinner of the Kentuckians, William F. Sheehan went to bed early, tired out.

William Barnes, jr., of Albany, the new Republican state chairman, was also in town last night principally, he said, to supervise the work of systematizing sources of county information, and to attend the Lincoln dinner at the Republican club here on Tuesday. "So far as I can see," he said, "Murphy has got to stick. I don't see how he can well go back on Sheehan." The deadlock apparently is as firm as ever. There was no quorum at yesterday's session at Albany and not more than a dozen or fifteen members were expected to cast their votes to-day. The majority of the legislators do not expect to return to Albany until Tuesday and there may be no quorum on Monday.

Woman Who Was Dead.

New York, Feb. 11.—Surrounded with sufficient food and fuel to sustain life for several weeks, Mrs. Frederick Vellmer was found dead last night in the kitchen of her home in the Bronx. Beside the body, alive but nearly unconscious, lay a four-year-old girl entrusted to the woman's care. The child's hands and feet were frozen and she was emaciated from lack of food. The woman had apparently died of exposure and had been dead probably three days. All that time the child had wandered through the rooms until she fell by the body.

Stone, porter at the Addison house, yesterday located the horse and rig in the Addison house stables and notified Mr. Wilson by telephone. He said he would be right over to get his property and pay Mr. Stone the reward.

Manchester, N. H., Feb. 11.—The post office in Merrimac, a small town located south of this city, was robbed last night, when stamps to the value of between $100 and $200 and a small amount of money was stolen. SUE FOR $5,000.

Parents of J. H. Williams Who Was Killed by Electric Cars.

Burlington, Feb. 11.—The death of James H. Williams, killed by the cars of the Burlington Traction company on the lower road to Winoski the night of October 22, 1910, was recalled by a suit which was brought in county court yesterday by the parents of Williams, who seek to lay the responsibility for their son's death upon a licensed liquor dealer who, they alleged, sold intoxicants to the young man, who became intoxicated and was run over by the cars. This action is brought under a special section of the liquor law.

The suit is that of John Henry Williams and Calista Williams vs. James Holloman, the latter being the proprietor of a licensed saloon in Winoski. Mr. and Mrs. Williams claim that because of the liquor, obtained in part or in whole by their son at the Holloman place from Holloman, his agents or servants, he became intoxicated and wandered upon the tracks of the Burlington Traction company and was killed. They further claim they are in poor circumstances and that an arrangement existed between them and their son by which he was to support them and live with them, and that his death did away with their only means of support. They ask damages of $5,000.

It will be recalled that it was never definitely ascertained how Williams came to be on the track the night he was killed. The accident occurred at a dark place between two electric lights on the lower road, the night being dark and stormy. The motorman's first intimation of anything wrong was when the car struck the body. The motorman was placed under bonds for a hearing which was held later, and which resulted in his being discharged, and evidence showing that he had run his car in a careless or negligent manner.

Collier says Bettis knocked him down and took the money from him and that when he came to he was covered with blood. He says he had about $20.

Bettis got away and when the officers went to look for him they were told that he was not on the premises. They saw a pair of feet protruding from a hiding place and pulled Bettis out.

Short Time.

Groton, Feb. 11.—Dr. R. Darling died very suddenly Wednesday forenoon, being ill but an hour and half. Mr. Darling, who lived at Westville, suffered a long illness from pneumonia, complicated with other troubles, about a year ago, from which he never fully recovered, although able to be about. Wednesday morning he came to the village to bring his son, Nathan, who had been visiting his parents, to the station. Soon afterward he was found in the village in an unconscious condition. WOMAN PLAYED DETECTIVE.

Disguised as Silver Polish Agent, She Discovered Her Property.

Newport, Feb. 11.—Luman D. Rice is in jail for 90 days as the result of a sharp game to trap a thief. George Reed visited his cottage recently and found that someone had broken in and taken silver and other articles. No clew was found as to who the thief was until someone happened to recognize silverware of Mr. Reed's at Rice's house. Upon the pretext of selling silver polish, Mrs. Reed went to the Rice house and asked to see the silver. Upon receiving it, Mrs. Reed found it was hers.

A search warrant was issued and a large quantity of Reed's missing property was found in the house. Rice was brought before Judge Thompson of the municipal court and sentenced to jail for 90 days. Rice says he bought the property from a man whom he ran across while duck hunting, but other testimony did not uphold this theory.

At the hospital it was stated that both of the victims were expected to die.
